

Aberystwyth's Literary Cartographers: exploring the relationship between literature & place

WISERD Pre-Conference Event*

Wednesday 2 July at 5.30pm—7.00pm

Aberystwyth Arts Centre

Exploring the relationship between literature and geography, focusing on some of Ceredigion's best contemporary writers.

Dr Jon Anderson will deliver a talk on the relationship between literature and geography, exploring how geographies of fiction co-produce the places in which we live our lives.

Followed by an exclusive video from Richard Collins, author of 'The Land as Viewed from the Sea', who will discuss his interests in local places and how they have played out in his writings, before giving some brief readings of sections from his novel.

This event will commence with a drinks reception and conclude with a discussion and Q&A session.

A must-see for anyone with an interest in Welsh literature and local geography!

Wales Institute of Social & Economic
Research, Data & Methods
Sefydliad Ymchwil Gymdeithasol ac
Economaidd, Data a Dulliau Cymru

The event coincides with the forthcoming publication of a WISERD affiliated book entitled 'Page and Place: On-going Compositions of Plot', authored by Jon Anderson (Cardiff University).

Booking

Please email wiserd.events@cardiff.ac.uk or call 02920 879338 to reserve your free place.

www.wiserd.ac.uk/conference2014

#WISERD2014

**As part of the Wales Institute for Social and Economic Research, Data & Methods (WISERD) Annual Conference.*